WORK AT STANDSTILL.
 Mayor Forbids Continuation of Pole-Setting and Tree-Trimming Without Authority.

Another chapter in the difficulties that the Willimantic-Rockville Light company is experiencing in getting a line of poles set on the "Brooklyn side" of the river in this city was closed as a result of a heart to heart conversation that Mayor D. P. Dunn and General Manager Alexander J. Campbell of New London and the Willimantic Gas & Electric Co. had Thursday afternoon.

Mayor Dunn explained to Mr. Campbell where he stood in the matter and told him that he must see that no more poles were set up until the matter was satisfactorily settled and the requisite permission obtained from the common council.

Mr. Campbell said that he would apologize for what had been done and admitted that the company had done that which they had no right to do, and that he would order the work stopped until a satisfactory arrangement could be made.

The mayor told him that he did not make any holder until complaints had been lodged with him by various citizens and taxpayers. The work on Pleasant street is at a standstill. Mayor Dunn told Mr. Campbell that the company must not trim any more trees in the city without first getting permission. He alluded to the way the company had sneaked in here and endeavored to rush things through to suit themselves. He said: "You see that high tension wire over the foot bridge; well, you have got to put it higher up and also have it covered, as it is dangerous to the community." Mr. Campbell could not argue with the mayor because he realized that the mayor had him beat. Mayor Dunn said: "I suppose that Charles Constock told you to keep away from the mayor?" and Mr. Campbell replied, "No; we now have a fight on with him ourselves." The various klaks and twits by means of which the Unac Power company had tried to get through the city of Willimantic under the guise of the Willimantic-Rockville Light company and the Willimantic Gas & Electric Light Co. are pretty thoroughly put to Mayor Dunn, who is now aroused to action by reason of the treatment that some of the citizens and taxpayers have been subjected to by the company's agents.

It is expected that there will be some communication presented by the company at the meeting of the common council next Monday evening that may have a bearing upon the present tangle.

Horse's First Wash Has Serious Results.

The old white horse owned by Brett-shield Bros., who recently purchased the grocery store of Nathan Peck on upper Main street, was so badly injured about 2:30 o'clock Thursday afternoon that he will have to be killed. The horse was standing in front of the store that leads to the crossing between Main street and the Windham Manufacturing company's mills (which is a private way), when he got frightened and bolted with the delivery wagon straight toward the crossing. The local southbound Central Vermont freight that is due in ahead of the passenger train was coming along and picked the horse off, the animal running amuck with the moving train. The horse was pretty badly cut up and while horsehair was strewn about the vehicle was a pair of broken timbers. It is said that the horse was never known before to stir out of a walk.

The crossing at one time in years gone by was protected by chains, but at the present time there is nothing to stay the advance of an advancing team or foot passenger, but it is on private property.

Hobo Arrested.
 A stranger was run in by Captain Richmond shortly after 4 o'clock on Thursday afternoon for panhandling. The fellow, barely missed colliding with the captain on Main street after he had approached a number of people for a dime or so. He said that he wanted to get the price of a drink. He butted in on a trio of fellows who were conversing in front of the White Front and made some remarks of an insulting nature that did not set very well. When he got friendly and explanatory he was turned down cold. He later braced another man at the corner of Main and North streets and shortly thereafter he was in the toils of the law.

Want Berths on Team.
 Applications are still coming in to President Dunn of the Connecticut Baseball association from self and friendly styled baseball players from places who are looking for jobs in the new circuit. The president says that they will have to show him before any of them tie up with a contract with the local team. A number of local players are being unearthed on the quiet that will show not a little class when the May basket season arrives.

Auditing in Savings Banks.
 The losses to be sustained by the depositors of the Southbridge Savings bank will surprise many who had regarded Massachusetts savings banks about the most secure of existing classes of investments. However, it seems likely that most of the savings banks are more systematic in having their accounts audited than the Southbridge bank was. The Franklin Savings institution, for instance, is one of many that have their accounts properly audited once a year, and most expert at that work say that the Southbridge losses under such inspection would soon have been discovered. The present law provides for auditing, but it is probably not clear enough that this work should be done by experts outside of the banks, and it is likely that the law needs stiffening in this respect. A class of depositors not familiar with the making of investments depends upon the absolute security of our system of savings banks, and even the possibility suggested ought to be thrown around them.—Greenfield Gazette.

Some one has figured it out that crime cost this country about $10,000,000 a year. This figure evidently does not include Wall Street.

Bacteria Bad and Good.
 A Chicago professor says there are good bacteria and bad bacteria, as well as good angels and bad angels. We have become so accustomed to the association of good qualities with the word angel, that when we apply it to a young lady her goodness is assumed.

Yet we learn from holy writ that bad angels are myriads in numbers. So it is of bacteria. We have been so often solemnly warned against the evil deeds of bacteria that we overlook the fact that many bacteria are as busy doing us good as others are in doing harm. If it were not for the sedulous care of our good angels in the form of bacteria we would not be long in the land of the living.

And so, as this Chicago professor says, while we are fighting tooth and nail against the life-devouring bacteria, we should extend the hand of good fellowship to those who spend their busy lives in keeping us in good health and in making things we eat taste good.—St. Louis Star.

 In a letter from a personal friend and a leader in temperance work in Massachusetts for many years, the editor finds these words which he is very glad to share with our readers: "I, emphatically object to your intrusion into our domain, I steal from us Rev. J. J. Nlan of Amesbury, for the bishop of Connecticut."
 "He is one of our best temperance men and has kept Amesbury in the no-license column year after year. We will lay hands on some 'Nimrod' if we get a chance worth of reprisal."
